

ASCENSION PARTICLES ACTIVATIONS

MODULE 4 - Expanding the Crown Chakra and Activating the Multidimensional Chakra

Alright, here we are! JSEMP, March, 2022. Yay! We have been working for a couple of months on particles or waves, depending on how you want to look at them, coming from deep in the cosmos and from deep in the earth from a multidimensional perspective, when the frequencies were a little bit higher on earth. We're working on opening up all the doors that allow us to bring in these particles consciously into our system so that we can actively and consciously participate to the Ascension process presently underway, which involves that our entire energy bodies and the energetic structure of our fields is transmuting and evolving as well, just as the energetic grid and structure of the earth is also evolving. We are, in a nutshell, and using words that you've probably heard in different places, shifting from 3D to 5D.

So, whenever our physical body dies, that happens naturally, we go back up into the energies and stuff like that. What's happening now, which is something that has been tried a couple of times throughout a very long, long, long history of spirits embodying lifeforms is the possibility of us actually ascending into 5D while remaining in a 3D body, which is huge. So, that doesn't mean that you're living in two different places. It doesn't mean you have a 3D physical body and that it isn't 5D. What it means is that the 3D physical frequency emanation gets to be lifted upwards into a higher frequency and that your psyche and consciousness re-emerges in a much broader field of universal intelligence without losing the access to an experience that's more physical and, organic, even though more crystalline based than carbon based. It is still organic in the sense of density. That's crazy awesome. It's just hard for us to understand that when we're still functioning in 3D.

So, tonight we're going to be working with one particle. There's two more to work with. My objective when I spoke to you about this last month was that I thought, with my little gamma brain and my little Aquarius nature, that we would just be able to go through these six energetic doors and the two last particles, all in one shot in one call. And that's not at all the way it came in, as I've been preparing for the last two days for the call. Even though I want to push in that direction, I'm getting a pushback saying no, there needs to be time to integrate, because this is big stuff.

To those who are willing to actively do the work and really get into it and really have that commitment to disintegrating the existing energetic structures that are the foundation of 3D life, and literally building up into, the 5D and beyond structures; those who are willing to commit to that completely and are able to do it on a regular basis, the complete transmutation of the existing system can be done in four to five years. That might seem long, but let's put this in the context of evolution, which is normally happening over periods of thousands of years. Five years is a very short period of time, a very, very short period of time. And I'm not saying: come on everyone, let's go, let's just do this full time.

Okay, this is my life, this is my work. I do this almost full time, but I still like to do things like watch movies and try to do human things. To those who are able to do it in a sustained way, but not all the time, not as a full-time job, it is more than possible to get through that transition and overhaul of the ancient system and into the new one, in a decade or two, which is still a pretty awesome. Other humans presently on earth will not at all do this. They will die with the existing structures.

I'm just going to make a little advanced parenthesis. The possibility of having a fully conscious sovereign form of Ascension is us being able to do our Ascension through the tunnel of the crown. So, for those of us that have done advanced work with me, you know what I'm talking about. Most of us, generally speaking, exit through the tunnel of the mouth, that's the tunnel we go through when we die. So that's the highest potential of this. That's what conscious Ascension looks like. That's what it means to be able to ascend with your body. It's done like through the crown pillar. So, you know, light stuff.

My goal - since you're in my program and I get to have this energetic structure all around us, and I get to amplify it and play with it and be super happy that you're here with me - my intention, and my goal is to bring us towards that. And the whole reason I ended up working on it with these particles over such a long period of time... normally in our calls, one month is a standalone subject. I've never done this in JSEMP. It extends over a five month period like this. It might even be six. I don't know, I'm not sure but, I just want you to know: I'm super excited about us doing this work together.

So, that said, little recap of what we're doing, right now. We're working with these particles. We have worked already on activating the nine physical doors, eyes, ears, nostrils, mouth, belly, button, and skin. So these are the nine physical doors through which these particles are absorbed, whether it be through foods and liquids, frequencies that you hear, solar waves that you receive that the prana and the emanations from the sun and gamma rays and stuff like that, that you receive through the skin and the belly button being a super important energetic cord that allows it to come in into you. Your goal with knowing what these doors are and with the fact that we've activated them in a group setting is just reminding yourself once in a while. The more you consciously go about connecting to these particles through these doorways, the more of them that you will actually integrate and receive like anything else in life. The more we do it consciously, the more we receive from it, the more we expand into it.

So, that's number one. It's as simple as like you're lying in the sun and just having that moment where you're like: "oh yeah, my skin is receiving these high-frequency particles". Just you saying that is enough for your skin to be receiving and absorbing more of them. And these particles are alive and they're intelligent, so they are like any other life form: they come more abundantly where they are welcomed. So, that's for the physical doors.

And then the energy doors, there are actually 13 of them. There were six I was going to work on with you this month that I've been told to calm down. One we already worked on last month. It was the clairsentience, energy center, the one between the plexus and the heart, which is that chakra, that allows you to feel the effect of what you're emanating towards others. More importantly, as that chakra expands and becomes more and more functional, let's say its intelligence is more activated, you become able to tell before it ever gets to the other person, what the effect would be of what you're about to emanate outwards. That's pretty amazing.

That's pretty amazing. So, apart from that chakra, that energy center, there's also another one that's called the harmony chakra. And we're going to work more with that one next month, but I still want to bring it up. That one is between the heart and the throat, about what the equivalent of a C6 C7, in between these two. These two chakras are very conjoined and connected together because what that harmony chakra is, which is in the mental body: that chakra gives you the ability, when it's functioning and you're connected to it consciously, to feel into what's harmonious and what's not harmonious in relation to others, but also in relation to your own thoughts. So, for example, one of the ways that that chakra would work is your ability to feel into an encounter you're about to go have with someone and whether or not that encounter is something that feeds love and consciousness and expansion, or something that feeds fear and lower frequencies.

From there, you can start making decisions: first of all, are you going to go put yourself in that situation? I'm having a flash of a session I had with someone on this call, which was all about that. Why are we going to go put ourselves in that situation if we already know it's going to be a low frequency thing and it's not going to really be good for you? The other beauty of that energy center is that you can project yourself into the future of that situation and get a feeling at the soul level of what's the goal here, and if it's an encounter that has a potential of a low frequency, even feeling into how this could have a higher frequency.

So, it becomes an ability to communicate with your soul and communicate with the soul of the other person and get some clarity in terms of what is harmonious and what isn't, and where are you willing to put yourself with that. Also, that clairsentience chakra is allowing you to feel into the effects of what you're about to do such as: "oh, that person annoys me, but I would never say that to their face". Well, you thinking that is already affecting them, and then, the next level is actually working with this other energy center of the harmony chakra, which allows you to enter a command space in you, where you start becoming aware of how you want to go about being with others. What do you want to bring to the table when you have these encounters?

If you already have a good idea of how that encounter is going to go, if you enter that space consciously, is there the possibility of having a soul to soul conversation with the other person and assessing: is there a purpose to this encounter that serves the highest good? Some people just want to meet up because they want to bitch and they want to make you feel like shit; let's not act like that doesn't exist in the world. And I say that with compassion, because for some people they're stuck in a hole of suffering, they don't know how to get out of there. They don't think they have the strength to crawl out of there and they don't want to be alone. So, all they can do is try to bring you down in there with them so that they're not alone anymore. Also, it's important to have compassion for that situation, but that doesn't mean you let them drag you down in the hole. As my mentor used to say: "compassion for the tiger doesn't mean you let the tiger eat you."

So, this harmony chakra is really important. Its color is bright, bright turquoise, which is kind of cool. That's my favorite color.

So, tonight, we're going to touch a little bit at this harmony chakra, but we're going to go into it deeper next month. The other energy center we're going to be working with tonight is the chakra at the base of the neck, which is a very, very, very important chakra. This is a multi-dimensional door. This is a doorway through which we can access other dimensions, through which we can talk with beings from other dimensions. It's also a portal through which energies from other dimensions can come into us. Unless you have some form of extensive understanding of the energetic structures of the body, a lot of people don't even know that there is a chakra there, let alone are they doing any work to shield it and make sure that what's coming in is actually kosher.

So, that's the main thing we're going to be working with tonight and it's natural color is silver. So, I really want to fine tune through working with the particles that we're going to work with tonight. Then, making sure that that energy center is as healthy as possible and that it has proper shielding. Let's not think of shields as protections, let's think of them as boundaries: having proper boundaries in place.

That's what I want to work on tonight. The particles we're working with tonight are called the Orion particles and the main thing that they do is they hyperactivate the crown, that's the main place they work on. And then they blend in with other particles. The way they blend in with other particles, is like the way they blend in with the crystalline celestial and terrestrial particles to activate the base of the neck, the base of the skull chakra and they blend with the other particles that we're going to save for next month, the sixth dimensional particles. When they blend with them, that's what fully activates the harmony chakra. So, that's the big view for tonight. We're honing in on the Orion particles and the chakra at the base of the neck with an emphasis on the crown because that's the main way the Orion particles come in and that's the main thing that they're working on.

I want to talk to you a little bit about what that is, and it's a subject that is hard for me to decide how I want to go about it. Let's just say that just like on earth, there are people that are aligned with working for the greater good, and there are also people that are more aligned with working for their own self-interests and their own vested interests. What we would call the two directions in life: service to self or service to others, or what I like to call service to all. So, that's not human only. There are multiple life forms that live on different dimensional frequencies and it's not because a being is 6D or 7D, that all of a sudden everything they do is only and ever for the highest good of all. Every life form has a will to live.

It's really important that we remember that. And this is a super interesting distinction that I'm going to make. I'm going to go deep into that with the second part of the month, when we do the discernments. There is a fundamental discernment that we need to have between someone acting out of the fear of dying and someone acting out of the will to survive and live. It's not the same thing. It could look the same, but it's not. So, there's things going on in this Milky way galaxy that are a little bit beyond the scope of what we do in this program that have created a situation where it's possible that some advanced lifeforms living within the Milky way galaxy might not... I gotta wait to see how it wants to come out...

There's the possibility of certain evolved lifeforms in this Milky way galaxy to not be able to keep their consciousness when they pass and to just go back to source as space dust, as opposed to a unified integrated, memory holographic system, which is what a soul is. These beings are very aware of that, it's only us here in the 3D that we don't see the full picture. As soon as you're able to live from 4D level and beyond, (4D equals you are connected to universal intelligence), you are psychically aware of every other life form in the galaxy and in the multi-verse, which is kind of trippy. We're only one dimension underneath that, but it's only once you get to 5D frequency that there's a functioning that's happening really from a deep integrated space of love.

And then, it gets kind of weird because then you've got beings that are at higher frequencies than that, and that are functioning from a place of love for themselves and their civilizations. So, I'm not sure how to talk about this because it gets kind of weird trying to understand that because our brains have this idea that it's either you're an ego and you're just out thinking about yourself, or you're like this ascended master and you love everyone and you would never hurt a single fly. It's a little bit cartoony. I guess it's maybe a little bit more complex out in the universe than that. Maybe people have more complex motivations than that. So anyways, long story short, there is a big galactic drama happening right now.

And we're kind of in it. So, the reason I'm saying that is because I want to put this little... I don't know what to call what that would be, but just saying... we're going to work with particles from an advanced civilization tonight, but I want you to also understand that even within these advanced civilizations, there are factions that are working for natural Ascension and there are factions that are working for figuring out a way to not become space dust. So, even within these civilizations that are sending us energies and that have high intentions, there are still parts of them that don't always have these higher intentions and motivations. So, that's why it's so important that we actually get our little shieldings here and be very, very clear about what we're letting in and what we're not letting in.

So, that's how far I'm going to go down that little rabbit hole, but if you want to go down there, look into the more advanced programs that are given, we can go have fun with that there.

The constellation of Orion within the grid of the Milky way galaxy, there is a dimensional door there. There are these different constellations that have star gates and things that allow us to transcend certain levels of consciousness and actually reenter into a much vaster experience of reality. So, we're nowhere near being a willing or being able to go through that dimensional door right now, which would also involve this being activated and our entire energetic structure brought up to 5D frequency. So that's underway, but what these particles are doing, as these particles come at us, they emanate from the magnetic field of that constellation.

They come in through waves - and the waves and particles, it's the same thing it's just that the wave is undulating and the particle looks like matter. They have built what looked like energetic structures around the earth and the stratosphere that were almost like antennas. And that's how these particles come in. So, part of what these particles do is transmit very advanced knowledge and information to help us understand how to structure a civilization and societies and value systems that are actually functioning from a much higher level of consciousness where the greater good is actually like... most of these advanced civilizations don't function the way we do. It's not like three people have power and everyone else are treated like herds of sheep. Every being has been given a fundamental, basic dignity of their life and their life force.

And from there, society is built around that in a way that recognizes that for each being. We do not have that here, so they're pushing that information and the emanations of what they're sending are already being felt and received by scientists and stuff like that. But they don't understand what these frequencies are saying. They're not able to decode them and that's good. Okay. We don't want 3D frequency and greed and power and fear-based thinking to be able to decode these informations because if I just look up some of the stuff I see on the internet, I don't really know the names, but it's about how : "you will own nothing and you will be happy." Like whoever that quotation is from, these people that are working on restructuring society, it's almost like a weird manipulative, distorted version of what it would look like to live in a world where money didn't exist anymore and everyone was equal.

But that's not the way they want to do it. They're doing it in a way where they would own everything and we would own nothing. It's not the same thing. I mean, long story short, these are coming in and the only way that they can be received in decoded by you is if you are permanently vibing at 4D frequency. As long as you still live within the 3D field, in any form, even if it's upper 3d, these frequencies cannot be decoded properly, but they're hitting the crown really hard. They're hitting the crown really hard, and they're helping to activate that base of the skull chakra so that we can start being able to decode and receive these messages as our base frequency goes up, as we enter the field of universal intelligence.

So, just remember 4D is universal intelligence, 3D is terrestrial intelligence, and understanding how to work on the earth, understanding how things work down here. 4D is a much vaster understanding of the multi-verse that we're in, all the different life forms, the way things form and instruct themselves, including even what's happening down here from a more universal intelligence perspective. And then being able to understand that there's logic to what's happening here. It's just hard to see when we're looking at it from the 3d, it just looks really unsure. So these are the Orion particles.

I just want to make sure I'm covering everything. I want to tell you about this. Yes, yes. The main role that they play by hitting us hard on the crown is bringing us into a much more grounded and stable equilibrium of the male and female polarities. We're very cartoonish right now. We're kind of like big man warrior and a woman housewife mother, you know, so it's like part of what they're here to do. That kind of crown chakra unity, unification, unified thinking is about bringing these polarities together and merging them into a cohesive relationship where it isn't one or the other anymore. So that's the biggest work that is needed because with that deeper harmony between the polarity of the feminine and masculine energies, which creates the ability of the inner child to feel really safe and able to come into that unity of divine mother, divine father, as merged into one parent of a child like this; this unity is the same unity as the unity of the spirit, the soul, and matter as one.

That's what we are, that's already what we are. It's just that while we're stuck in our minds, we're not living it like that. We're kind of like a mind in a body.

So, that's the main thing they want to do is really help to bring about that unification and balancing that deep, deep equilibrium and balance. I'm not sure, but I think that in certain ways, this is a little bit of what's going on on our planet right now with guys not sure if they're girls and girls, not sure if they're guys, and just this whole gender thing going on. I think part of that, well, I'm sure part of that is related to massive hormonal imbalancing, with all the things creating imbalance in our hormones, but also I think it's these energies coming in. And it's hard to understand what to do with these energies at first, but there's a merging and androgynous-ish thing, which in the very long term scope of things, we become more and more androgynous as we go up and up and up and up and closer to source energy, which is unified.

You know, it's not male source and female source. Even though we are able to recognize the attributes of the feminine and the masculine, it's still one thing. So, that's one of the big things that it brings in. The other thing that the Orion particles aim to do is to, by harmonizing the glandular systems in our body into a higher frequency, is also about creating, protection, allowing us to be able to function in a higher caliber and protect ourselves from a lot of the negative stuff going on, like all the like 5g and that kind of stuff. It's like pollution, psychic pollution in the field all around us. So, part of what they bring into is by increasing the frequency of the crown chakra and activating, it also brings into our field a higher frequency that makes it easier for us to deal and cope with all these frequencies and vibrations that are pervading our world more and more, with wifi and all that kind of stuff. So, that's the good stuff for our bodies. There's stuff for our bodies and most important part, it's a little bit more complex than that, but basically it comes into the crown. It helps to activate the base of the skull. And by doing that, it's also working with the third eye, getting more and more and more open, which is what we need to be able to function from 4D and from a universal intelligence, a way of understanding things that is based on the entire universe. But that's what universal intelligence means. It's being able to tap into the intelligence of the entire universe, not just the intelligence of your cortex or your intellect, not just the memory and knowledge of a couple thousand years of human history, but being able to tap into the history of knowledge of everything that has ever existed, akashic records is 4D, so good stuff, a good brain development.

Let's just see what else I want to say about this before we go into a yummy meditation. Yeah. So yeah.

Great emancipation awaits us as we increase our frequency and start really building up to this, re-Ascension into 5D frequency as a base frequency of living. I'm saying re-ascension because we once did live there, there was a fall. And right now, we're just figuring out how to get back up there.

It's possible sometimes that you'll feel pushback as you're doing work like this. It's possible that you'll be like: "why do I feel like I'm getting rammed into as I managed to go up and then something kind of like, it feels like it's trying to pull me back down." There's a mixture of things going on: your defense structure and your egoic structure don't know how to feel safe with that because they don't know what that's going to look like.

So, some of the pullback pushback is that, and some of the pullback pushback might be from sources outside of you. So, let's just be chill and cool about that. Yeah. That's possible! Just like when you decide you're going to change your life, there might be people around you that don't really want you to, and they would rather you stay the way you were like because that allows them to stay in a certain place. It's kind of the same thing just happening at a vaster level and the way you're able to hold your ground in a situation like that is just to be more and more centered in the sacred heart space and more and more able to discern and understand from a much higher level of intelligence what's actually going on. Because at the end of the day, the cycle, the life - I don't even know at the end of what - we are all powerful creators. And the only thing that affects us is what we give our power to. Don't forget that; no matter how fucked up or scared you are, don't forget that that's the key. I am a powerful creator, as Hawkins would say, like, I am a divine being of light and I decide what is allowed to affect me or not.

That's a really powerful place to be. I am not subject to this if I do not hold it in mind. So, this is exciting. Let's put on our spiritual warrior pants and realize that we are powerful beings of light. We've just been having a little nightmare and we've been told a whole bunch of stories about who we are and what we're able to do and what we're not able to do. And 99% of it is bullshit. So, let's do the work and have fun expanding. And if you're listening to this from the YouTube channel and you want support and you want to be in a group that allows you to walk this path of empowerment, spiritual ascension, and building up who you truly are, then reach out. And for the rest of us, we are going to go into the meditation I have planned for you tonight. Oh, yes!!! All right. So, I'm going to stop this recording and give us a chance to go do whatever we need to do glass of water, etc. before I bring us into the meditation.
